SPIRIT

College Life and Traditions

A distinguished past, a stimulating present and a challenging future comprise the spirit of Wake Forest University. The revered traditions of the past blend with the unfolding vista of the future to provide an exciting atmosphere in which to live, study, and grow.

As a new student, you are entering Wake Forest in a time of transition. This year Wake Forest makes two important changes — it has attained University status and it has acquired a new president. Being named a University marks the culmination of years of work and planning from our humble beginning on the old campus. The coming of a new president will mark certain changes in policy and practice. You are entering Wake Forest at the beginning of a significant new era. The demands with which you will be confronted will be many, but the rewards will more than compensate.

Convocation opens the Fall Semester.

Life at Wake Forest revolves around the close fellowship and honored traditions that are an integral part of the college community. The ever-growing and ever-increasing role of Wake Forest as an influential academic institution demands the links of close association and historical precedence. The treasured relationship between professors and students is accentuated by the congenial fellowship of all members of the Wake Forest community. Since its founding in 1834, the college has maintained a reputation of academic excellence that has endured with old traditions and progressed with the new, life-giving changes.

By means of the Orientation Program, incoming freshmen and transfer students are familiarized with campus life. They are introduced to their "second home" for the next four years through time-honored traditions such as the Alma Mater and through practical considerations such as the geography of Winston-Salem. Newcomers learn their classmates' names by means of identification badges so that they will be only partially confused when upperclassmen return to join the freshmen in the unique experience of registration.

The beginning of classes brings papers, pop tests, quizzes, and parallel reading assignments. But college life is not all 8:00 classes, afternoons in the lab, evenings in the library, and all night cramming sessions. Extracurricular activities such as athletics, social life, and student activities contribute to the formation of the "well-rounded" college student.

Fall athletics bring Saturday evenings in Bowman Gray Stadium with students cheering the Deacon football team to victory. This is the last season the Deacs will see action in the Bowman Gray Stadium. Our own stadium will be completed for the opening of the '68 season. In the winter, the Deacons cheer again, this time in the Memorial Coliseum for basketball games. After each win, the pealing of the victory bell and frequent "papering" of the dorms welcome returning students to campus. Then baseball season opens at Ernie Shore Field. Tennis, golf, track, and swimming also highlight the spring sports season.

Fall mixers, fraternity parties, trips to Greensboro, Fall Carnival, weekly movies in DeTamble Auditorium, concerts, art exhibits, lectures, and major functions like Homecoming weekend, when alumni flood the campus and parties and decorations abound, all give the campus life. Derby Day and Greek Week as well as all the activities of the ten men's fraternities add zest to the campus. The Men's Residence Council and girls' societies also contribute a great deal to Wake Forest social life.

Christmastime is an especially joyous season on campus. Downtown stores are filled with excited students buying, wrapping, and mailing gifts. Quizzes and papers take a back seat to the spirit of Christmas. Decorations adorn every door on the dormitory halls. The Campus Carol Service, a party for underprivileged children, and the presentation of Handel's "Messiah" round out the Christmas activities.

After Christmas vacation, exams come with students burning the midnight oil. After a four day semester break, registration begins, and the first twinges of spring fever are felt. Spring brings a reawakening of the magnolias and dogwood as well as of the students' love of outdoor sports, picnics, trips to Tanglewood and to the beach. Fraternity and Society rush, campus politics, and election of the student leaders all increase student enthusiasm and interest in campus life.

During the year, each weekly chapter of Wake Forest's story is recorded for the students in OLD GOLD AND BLACK, the traditionally All-American student newspaper which was this year named Best Large Newspaper by the CHARLOTTE OBSERVER. WFDD, the student radio station, serves both the students and the surrounding Piedmont area with news, music, and coverage of important student activities. THE HOWLER, distributed in May, provides each student with a record of the year. THE STUDENT, the campus monthly magazine, presents coverage of campus issues as well as providing an outlet for creative talent.

Thus people and places change, but the same ideals and traditions remain the essence of Wake Forest University.

Spring brings out the golfers . . . and the girl watchers.

HISTORY AND DEVELOPMENT

The founding of Wake Forest Institute on February 3, 1834, marked the first concrete step taken by the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina to establish schools of higher learning. Dr. Samuel Wait, first principal of the institute, envisioned a two-fold purpose for Wake Forest — to provide collegiate instruction in the arts and sciences, and to furnish training under Christian influences and provide well educated ministers.

Although it offered collegiate instruction, Wake Forest Institute operated as a manual labor school until December, 1838, when it was rechartered as Wake Forest College. In June, 1839, the College granted Bachelor of Arts degrees to the four men who constituted its first graduating class.

Wake Forest was exclusively a college of liberal arts until June, 1894, when the Law School was established. The School of Medicine was established in May, 1902. It was moved to Winston-Salem in 1941 and is now known as the Bowman Gray School of Medicine of Wake Forest University. The institution became coeducational in 1942 and the School of Business Administration was established in September, 1948.

For over a century, Wake Forest maintained a prominent position among educational institutions in the State. Its location then was the Town of Wake Forest, N. C., which is about fifteen miles north of Raleigh, the State capital. In 1946 Wake Forest received an opportunity for additional greatness and service when the Z. Smith Reynolds Foundation offered to give Wake Forest $350,000 annually (the grant was increased to $500,000 in 1955) on condition that it move to Winston-Salem, N. C. The offer was accepted by the College's trustees and the Baptist State Convention.

The Charles H. Babcock family donated a part of the beautiful Reynolda Estate for the new campus and ground-breaking ceremonies were held on October 15, 1951, with President Truman delivering the principal address.

The actual move to the new campus was completed in June, 1956, and summer school classes were held on the school's new plant, then worth an estimated $20 million. The old campus and buildings at Wake Forest were sold to the Southern Baptist Convention and the Southeastern Baptist Theological Seminary was established there.

Wake Forest re-established a graduate program for the M.A. degree in 1960 and today grants the master's degree in eleven departments in the arts and sciences. Graduate work also is offered at the School of Medicine. Five departments there offer the Ph.D. and master's degree work.

For some time Wake Forest had been working toward university status, a role it assumed in June, 1967. This additional step was primarily the work of Dr. Harold W. Tribble, who retired as Wake Forest's tenth president the same month it became a university. It was he who guided the move to Winston-Salem and formulated the proposals which brought on university status.

His successor is Dr. James Ralph Scales, former dean of the College of Arts and Sciences at Oklahoma State University and former president of Oklahoma Baptist University. To him falls the task of leading Wake Forest through another significant period of development.

Throughout its history Wake Forest has been proud of its Christian heritage, its tradition of friendliness and its never ceasing efforts to make better men and women of its students.

Derby Day ends with the traditional shaving cream battle between Sigma Chi and Society girls.

The Honor System

Students at Wake Forest University are given the privilege and responsibility of assuming the personal integrity and honor of each student enrolled. Some years ago the University asked the students if they wished to be placed upon their honor as ladies and gentlemen, and the answer was in the affirmative. Thus was born the Student Honor System.

To assure the effectiveness and clarity of the "honor" idea, the students themselves drew up an honor and conduct code outlining the standards to which all students are expected to conform. While it is the responsibility of each individual to uphold and enforce the System, sixteen representatives are elected by the student body each year and specifically charged with the duty of enforcing the chosen standards of honor and conduct. More than a trial group, these representatives who comprise the Student Honor Council seek to maintain the spirit of the system. Because of this desire all penalties are left to the discretion of the Council in recognition that each case must be considered on its own merits, not bound by tradition or precedent. In addition, the Council seeks not only to punish violators of the System but also by its decisions to help the student involved avoid making the same mistake again.

The decision to support and to adhere to the Honor System is made automatically with the decision to come to Wake Forest. The System is not a set of rules; it is a way of life. The social structure of any community depends first of all on the basic assumptions made by the individuals within that community. The Honor System assumes that each student is mature enough and honest enough to be trusted to act with integrity at all times. Thus, as Article VII of the Student Body Constitution states:

An industrious student studies for a quiz, all of which are given without the distraction of monitors.

"The Honor System is more nearly a spirit than a code. Reduced to its simplest terms, it means that a man or woman shall act honorably in all relations and phases of student life, that his word can be trusted implicitly, and that he will at all times conduct himself as becomes students of Wake Forest University whether at the University or away from the campus." The trust that this system implies results in greater freedom for students. Most professors administer examinations without the aid of proctors and do not remain in the room. Often students are permitted to leave an examination for a needed "breather" and then to return and complete the work with no questions asked. The greatest benefit of the System, however, is the knowledge that one is trusted until he proves himself unworthy of that trust.

Obviously, an Honor System can be effective only to the extent to which each student accepts the responsibilities which accompany increased freedom and trust. As a constant reminder of his moral obligations to do honest work on all examinations and other work specified as "Pledge Work" by the professor, each student is required to sign at the end of all written assignments the pledge: "I have neither given nor received any aid on this work." The Honor System applies not only to cheating on pledge work but also to plagiarism, stealing, the passing of worthless checks, and all other instances in which the honor and integrity of the individual are at stake. Each student is honor bound to conform strictly to the regulations set forth in Statute I of the Student Body Constitution, entitled Honor Violations. Generally accepted rules of conduct are outlined in Statute II of the Constitution, Conduct Violations, and concern such actions as hazing, gambling, conduct toward guests of the University, participation in campus riots, and other undesirable activities. While a person's honor may not be specifically at stake in these cases, he is certainly duty bound if not honor bound to maintain the highest standards of personal conduct at all times.

It is the further responsibility of each student, as provided by Article VII, Section 2 of the Constitution, “. . . not only to obey and uphold the System himself, but upon seeing someone else violate the spirit of the System to confront the violator by asking him to report himself to the proper authorities so that he might clear himself or bear the responsibility of his actions . . .” The Honor System at Wake Forest thus seeks to place the responsibility of the reporting of violations in the hands of the violators themselves. But every student who witnesses a violation must not forget his own responsibility of pointing out to the violator the necessity of his reporting himself and the duty of taking whatever further action seems advisable. The Honor System means that you will live in a community in which honesty is respected, that if you are a person of integrity you will be given an opportunity to work in an atmosphere of freedom and trust.

The College Songs

DEAR OLD WAKE FOREST

(The Alma Mater)

Dear old Wake Forest!

Thine is a noble name;

Thine is a glorious fame,

Constant and true.

We give thee of our praise,

Adore thine ancient days,

Sing thee our humble lays,

Mother, so dear.

Dear old Wake Forest!

Mystic thy name to cheer;

Be thou our guardian near,

Fore'er and aye.

We bow before thy shrine,

Thy brow with bays entwine,

All honor now be thine,

Mother, today.

OH, HERE'S TO WAKE FOREST

(The Fight Song)

Oh, here's to Wake Forest, a glass of the finest
Red, ruddy Rhenish filled up to the brim!
Her sons they are many, unrivaled by any;
With hearts o'erflowing we will sing her hymn.

(Chorus)

Rah, Rah, Wake Forest, Rah!
Old Alma Mater's sons we are;
We'll herald her story and die for her glory,
Old Gold and Black is ever waving high.

As frosh we adore her; as sophs we explore her,
And carve our names upon her ancient walls;
As juniors patrol her; as seniors extol her,
And weep to leave fore'er her sacred halls.

Though fortune forsake us and fate o'ertake us,
We'll ne'er forget our dear old collegè days,
And o'er memory's treasure we'll drink without measure,
And sing fore'er our Alma Mater's praise.

THE SETTING

The physical beauty of the Wake Forest campus and the surrounding area, and the warm and friendly atmosphere of the people of Winston-Salem and North Carolina, make the student's transition to his new home an easy one. The University is situated on landscaped hills about three miles northwest of the center of the city, just off Reynolda Road.

The Campus

The campus embraces about 411 acres of land and 17 buildings. Its magnolia trees, expansive lawns and carefully-planned design make the campus one of the most beautiful in the South.

The buildings are of modified Georgian architecture, constructed of Old Virginia brick and trimmed in granite and limestone. In addition to the college buildings, there are a President's home, ten faculty apartment buildings, 56 student apartments and a trailer camp for married students.

THE BUILDINGS ARE:

WAIT CHAPEL, at the head of the campus plaza. The chapel named for Dr. Samuel Wait, the college's first president, doubles as a center of campus religious activity and an auditorium. It is the home of the campus Baptist church. Attached to Wait Chapel on the northern end is WINGATE HALL, a four-story building housing the church's educational departments and the University's departments of religion and music. Also located in the building is PAUL PRICE DAVIS MEMORIAL CHAPEL.

REYNOLDA HALL, at the southern end of the Plaza, facing Wait Chapel, the administrative and student activities center. The wing on the west end of the building houses all administrative offices of the University and the wing on the east accommodates student organizations and activities. Also in the building are the cafeteria, a soda shop, lounges, conference rooms, banquet rooms, classrooms, and the campus restaurant, the Magnolia Room.

THE Z. SMITH REYNOLDS LIBRARY building, presently divided between classrooms, offices, and library rooms. Four floors of rooms for reading, reference and other uses are available, and the library has a capacity for about one million books.

W. N. REYNOLDS GYMNASIUM, containing facilities for practically all sports and the ROTC department. Basketball courts, a swimming pool, courts for other indoor sports, and classrooms and offices for the physical education and athletic departments are in the building.

THE LAW BUILDING, reserved for the School of Law. It has classrooms, a moot court and assembly room, and the law library.

TRIBBLE HALL. Located east of the library, it was opened in 1963. It contains classrooms, seminar rooms, faculty offices and a lecture hall, and houses the departments of English, classical languages, German, Romance languages, political science, sociology, history, philosophy and education.

The Z. Smith Reynolds Library provides a quiet atmosphere in which to study.

SALEM HALL, the older of the two science buildings on campus. It houses the chemistry and physics departments. In this building are many laboratories, classrooms, offices, and a large lecture room.

WINSTON HALL, the newer science building. This structure accommodates the biology and psychology departments. The building is completely air-conditioned, and also contains offices, as well as laboratories and classrooms.

Wake Forest men live in four quadrangles of dormitories bordering the plaza. Northeast of the plaza is POTEAT DORM. TAYLOR DORM is on the northwest, KITCHIN DORM is southeast and DAVIS DORM is southwest. Connecting Taylor and Poteat with Wait Chapel are two wings, EFIRD and HUFFMAN Halls.

BOSTWICK, JOHNSON, AND BABCOCK DORMITORIES for women are located on the south end of the campus.

Facing the plaza and housed in the men's dorms are a post office, a bank, a book store, men's and women's clothing stores, a barber shop and a photography studio. Wake Forest Laundry is housed in Taylor Dorm.

Winston-Salem Area

Winston-Salem is located in Piedmont North Carolina, in the fastest growing area in the eastern United States. In 1959, and again in 1964, Winston-Salem received the great honor of being named an All American City, reflecting the city's long-time record of progress and continued prosperity.

The origin of the city can be traced to the early 1750's, when the Moravians followed the colonial road from Pennsylvania and established a community in Salem. Over 100,000 people live in the industrial combined towns of Winston and Salem. There has been a healthy student-citizen relationship that is strengthened by the community relations committee and an increase of mutual appreciation since the University moved to Winston-Salem in 1956. The governmental and political affairs of the city interest the members of the faculty, student body, and administration, who take an active part in both. This interest has caused the people of the city to respond with constant aid to the development and cultural programs of the University.

R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company, the main industry of Winston-Salem, has over 9,000 people in its employment. The company recently opened the most modern cigarette factory in the world, which can be toured at almost any time. The city also houses the largest bank in the southeast, the largest producers of seamless hose, and the largest regional airlines in the nation.

The student may find abundant sources and opportunities for cultural and recreational activities. The university sponsors a concert-lecture series; and in addition, students may attend programs of the Civic Music Association, the Little Theater, the Winston-Salem Symphony, the Winston-Salem Singer's Guild, and the Chamber Music Society.

Twice named an All-American City, Winston-Salem offers Wake Forest students a variety of places and activities.

Relaxation and light entertainment are also provided for by Winston-Salem. Besides having several drive-in theaters, there are two downtown theaters and new ones at the Parkway Plaza and Reynolda Manor shopping centers. The student will also find miniature golf courses and bowling alleys close by. The City Recreation Department operates 25 recreation centers and four parks, with facilities for all types of activities. After making use of the many recreational facilities of the city, the hungry student can find many fine restaurants in and around Winston-Salem.

Student golfers may take advantage of two public courses, Hillcrest Golf Club and Reynolds Park, and the course at the Old Town Club, a private establishment located next to the campus. The area surrounding the city offers other opportunities for recreation. One may find swimming, golf, horse-back riding, fishing, picnicking, and games at "Tanglewood," the William and Kate B. Reynolds Memorial Park. Only 47 miles from campus, the student can find the beautiful and scenic Blue Ridge Parkway, which attracts many students during the fall and spring months. Near these attractive ranges are located the Hanging Rock State Park, 30 miles north of the city, and Pilot Mountain Park, 25 miles northwest of Winston-Salem.

One of the finest examples of restored colonial life in the United States is Old Salem, a special attraction in this city. Salem College, a distinguished four-year college for women, is located in Old Salem. Salem Academy, founded in 1772, is the oldest preparatory school for girls in the South. Easter and Christmas services of the Moravian Church are attended by people from all over the nation, in honor of the heritage of the city.

Reynolda Gardens

Breathtakingly beautiful Reynolda Gardens are one of the most magnificent spots in the area. Each spring thousands flock to admire the weeping Japanese cherry trees in the glory of full bloom.

Throughout the year, the winding paths and lakeside slopes of the Gardens are a favorite spot for study in the sun, leisurely strolls, and student marriages. An enchanting path leads to the Garden from the main campus at the biology building on the west side.

Reynolda Gardens offer to the student a relaxing place away from the rigorous academic phases of college life.

The Gardens became one of the University's most treasured heritages in 1958 when they were presented to Wake Forest by the Mary Reynolds Babcock Foundation and Charles H. Babcock, "to enhance educational facilities . . . and the cultural service which Wake Forest is now rendering to the community and to the state."

With all her glorious traditions and physical beauty, it is in the final analysis the people of Wake Forest that make her what she is. And in these people, there are two factors which are always foremost — a deep love of Wake Forest and a personal concern for each and every individual student.

Wake Forest has always been careful to stress quality rather than quantity, and her people reflect this emphasis.

The Alumni

The Wake Forest University Alumni Association is the organization through which former students maintain lifelong ties with the college. These ties are based on a relationship as natural and as mutual as the bond between parent and child. "Alumnus" means foster son, and "Alma Mater" means nourishing mother. The Alumni Association seeks to preserve and enhance the vitality of this concept and to employ it for the benefit of both alumni and the University.

Graduates and all former students who have received any academic credits from the University automatically become members of the Association. In addition, other persons interested in the University and desiring affiliation with the Association may be elected to honorary membership. Currently there are approximately 16,500 members who are engaged in all fields of human endeavor. New members are being added at the rate of approximately 900 a year.

The purposes of the Association, as stated in the Constitution, are "to nourish friendly relations among its members, to maintain and strengthen in alumni the best spirit and ideals of the University, and to secure cooperation of alumni and the public in helping the University to render the most effective service possible."

Two meetings of the Association are held annually, one at the University during commencement and one during the annual session of the Baptist State Convention at the time and place the Convention meets. From time to time, special meetings may be called.

The executive arm of the Association is the Alumni Council. The Council is composed of 36 members selected to represent the geographical distribution of alumni, plus several other members who hold seats by virtue of their offices, such as the President of the University. The Council meets on call of the President of the Alumni Association and Director of Alumni Activities. It carries out such projects as the Association may approve and sponsor. It also formulates policies and conducts business of the Association in the interims between meetings of the Association.

Programs of the Association include the sponsorship of class reunions on Alumni Day during commencement, maintenance of local chapters of the Association in communities where alumni are heavily concentrated, and conduct of an annual giving campaign, called the Living Endowment, through which alumni are invited to contribute to the financial support of the University.

Members of the Association receive without charge The Wake Forest Magazine, which is published every other month. This magazine is designed to keep alumni abreast of life and developments on the campus and of the activities of fellow alumni. It also attempts to be a medium of continuing education for alumni by projecting the latest trends and thought in higher education. Contributions are invited from students, faculty members and alumni.

The ultimate strength of the University rests with its alumni. The opportunities of students on the campus today are wider and more meaningful because of continuing alumni support. Students therefore ought to acquaint themselves with the alumni program while they are still in school. The high station of alumnus is not to be taken lightly.

STUDENT ACTIVITIES

Student Government

Wake Forest students maintain a high degree of independence and sovereignty in regulating student behavior and solving student-related problems. The Student Legislature, the Student Honor Council, and the Men's Judicial Board are the three major agencies through which students work. Each spring, members of these three organizations are elected to fill office for the following school year. In addition to these three agencies, the Wake Forest coeds are organized within the Women's Government Association.

Student Government is established and operates under the Constitution of the Student Body.

The president of the student body is Chip Cooper; the vice president is Jerry Baker; the secretary is Donna Gill; and the treasurer is Bill (Flash) Gordon.

Through membership on committees established by the Legislature and Honor Council in co-operation with the Administration, a large number of students are active in Student Government.

Student Legislature

The Student Legislature, the legislative arm of Student Government, is composed of thirty-six members. (See Constitution Article V, section I.) The chief purpose of the Legislature is to enact legislation to enhance the welfare of the student body as well as to serve as a student forum by both reviewing student grievances and endorsing appropriate action pertaining thereto.

The work of the Legislature is shared between the Legislature itself and its respective committees. While technically the President of the student body is not a member of the Legislature, his voice and programs are given thorough attention by the members. In addition, legislators initiate legislation according to the needs and wishes of their constituents. Legislation passed by the Legislature is referred immediately to one of the several committees for appropriate action. It is in the various committees that the most crucial job of converting a legislative statute into a reality is accomplished. To assist the President in keeping close contact with the committee system the Executive Cabinet, composed of the four student body officers and chairmen of primary committees, review periodically the progress of committee action.

The Cabinet is under the general supervision of the Speaker of the Legislature — the Vice President of the student body.

The Legislature will publish the Student Government Report from time to time informing the student body of current student issues and of future Student Government projects.

The Student Legislature meets every first and third Wednesday night in the Legislative Chambers in room 230, Reynolda Hall. Members of the student body are invited and are welcome to attend all Legislature meetings.

HONOR COUNCIL

The judicial wing of the student government is the Honor Council. When a student is charged for having committed an honor code offense, he is then brought to trial before the Council. Acting as a court, the council of eight men and eight women carefully weigh the evidence and decide on the penalty. The decision is usually final and only in extreme instances is a case reviewed by the faculty. The chairman for the 1966-67 school year is Ed Hallman, a senior from Conyers, Georgia.

THE WOMEN'S GOVERNMENT ASSOCIATION

For the undergraduate resident women and the day students is the Women's Government Association the governing body in matters of social regulations. According to the preamble of the constitution, the purposes of this organization are ". . . to regulate all matters pertaining to the life of the women of Wake Forest University not under the jurisdiction of the Faculty; to increase a sense of individual responsibility; to further a spirit of unity among the women of the University; and to cooperate with the Faculty in creating and maintaining high ideals for women of this University." Besides these goals, the WGA will conduct a seminar for senior girls on the problems and facts of marriage after graduation.

Wendy Farmer of Virginia Beach, Virginia, will lead the WGA in fulfilling its purposes.

Men's Judicial Board

The Men's Judicial Board, which is a counterpart to the Women's Government Association, is composed of six male students and six members of the faculty. Unlike the Honor Council, which presides over honor code offenses, the Men's Judicial Board rules only on conduct violations. The purpose of the Board is to give an opportunity for the students of Wake Forest to regulate and participate more actively in their own affairs.

Campus Politics

During the past three or four years, Wake Forest University has seen the evolution of a strong two-party system in campus politics. Instead of becoming a race between individual personalities, the campaigns are now a contest based upon real student issues with the Better Politics on Campus party (BPOC) taking a slightly more liberal stand than the more conservative Student Action Movement (SAM). SAM was formed this year from the remnants of The New Party (TNP) and showed unusual strength for such a new party by winning two of the major student body offices.

The campaign was waged in a various and competitive fashion, complete with party nominating conventions, issue-oriented platforms, debates between candidates, campaign posters and speeches, a street dance, and grass-root politicking.

Realizing the significance of the two-party system, evident in the last campaign, the new Speaker of the Legislature organized the Legislature on party lines.

Campus politics provide the students with the opportunity to gain a first-hand experience in practical politics as well as to have a part in shaping the role of students in higher education.

Acquiring a cannon to sound with each touchdown was one of Student Government's fall projects.

Publications

On the second floor of Reynolda Hall is the heart of the student activities at Wake Forest — Pub (for publications) Row. At one end of the hall are the student government offices; at the other, the campus radio station; and down the side are the offices of the three student publications, a yearbook, a newspaper, and a literary magazine. This hall provides the eyes, ears and voice of the Wake Forest student body. Its role in the life of the college is a significant one, for it is the breeding ground of student ideas and the headquarters for student work.

The Wake Forest publications are governed by a Publications Board, the objects of which are to promote interest in journalism and college literary activities, and to build and raise the standards of the college publications. The membership of the Board consists of a Faculty Board, composed of faculty advisers, and a Student Board, composed of each publication staff's editor and business manager. All students are invited to participate in publications.

OLD GOLD AND BLACK

Old Gold and Black, the student newspaper, covers the campus like the magnolias. News of campus activities and items of community, state, and national scope which may affect the University, in addition to feature articles, editorials, columns, and advertising, keep the student up to date with campus affairs. Besides informing the students, Old Gold and Black is the principal means by which alumni and parents can keep in touch with campus life.

Henry Bostic and Ralph Simpson will serve as co-editors this next year.

THE STUDENT

The University literary magazine is The Student, an outlet for the creative ability of any Deacon. Included in the magazine are short stories, poems, art, book reviews, and news and photo features.

The magazine, which was founded in 1882, is the oldest University publication. It was suspended for two years but was reinstated in the spring of 1964. The Student is published five times throughout the school year. The content of each volume is manuscripts which are submitted by students and are accepted on the basis of individual merit.

Heading The Student this next year will be Tim Brown.

THE HOWLER

The Howler, the University yearbook, contains a thorough word-and-picture account of the year's activities and is, therefore, a treasured record of Wake Forest for the future. Sections on studies, groups, special highlights, individuals, the community, and the world combine to tell the complete story of University life.

The Howler has appeared every year since 1903, and it has received an All-American rating many times from the Associated Collegiate Press.

Editing The Howler this next year will be Brooks Stillwell with David James serving as Business Manager.

Religious Activities

Since Wake Forest is a church-related college, the study and discussion of religion assumes added significance as a field of academic inquiry. Especially in extra-curricular activities does the Wake Forest student have the opportunity to consider various aspects of religious thought, ranging from the ideas of outstanding figures like Reinhold Niebuhr to those of Evangelist Billy Graham.

The purpose of the campus religious program is to provide students with opportunities for worship, study, and service. All students, regardless of their religious affiliation, are invited to participate in such organizations as the Baptist Student Union, the Episcopal Canterbury, the Wesley Foundation (Methodist), and the Westminster Fellowship (Presbyterian).

These denominational groups sponsor several programs for those students who wish to take an active part in the religious life of the college and nearby communities. Local mission projects in homes for the aged, in orphanages and in certain churches, and week-end youth retreats in North Carolina churches provide practical training for many students.

In addition to daily vesper services held in Davis Chapel, there are special worship programs at Christmas and Easter. All of the aforementioned groups engage in study and other inter-denominational projects, making use of the new inter-denominational center located in the library. The BSU also has a room in Wingate Hall where many of its activities take place.

Perhaps the major contribution is the annual pre-school retreat immediately prior to freshman orientation. The retreat serves as an orientation to college life and thought in addition to providing a stimulating period for discussion on various theological topics.

Bi-Weekly Chapel

Having a heritage dating back to the founding of the college in 1834, chapel at Wake Forest gives the students the chance to observe not only the religious atmosphere of the college but also the inter-relationship of all phases of campus life. Each week, guest speakers address the student body on subjects ranging from politics to outer space travel, from literature to the Peace Corps, and from professional sports to different religious beliefs. From time to time there are programs on student accomplishments and activities, including student body meetings, Wake Forest athletics, and programs by the different musical groups on campus.

Chapel serves another very important objective in the life and atmosphere of the University. Twice each week the student body comes together, thus generating a spirit of co-operation and common purpose — an intangible asset in maintaining a sense of closeness and friendship. Chapel at Wake Forest is an extension of academic inquiry experienced in the classroom and a focal point for collective student life.

The chapel programs are scheduled largely by the students themselves, acting through a student committee of the Student Legislature and co-operating with Dr. Hollingsworth.

Interesting speakers that Wake Forest has been privileged to have had in recent years are Ambassador Goldberg while he held a seat on the United States Supreme Court; The Most Reverend Vincent S. Waters, Bishop of the Catholic Diocese of North Carolina; Attorney General of Alabama, Richmond Flowers; and Dr. Ralph Bunche, mediator for the United Nations.

The College Union

Because of the increased budget, the College Union is able to provide more and better activities for entertainment, relaxation, and stimulation at Wake Forest. It was established after the move to the new campus as part of the University's continuing attempt to meet the needs of all the students.

In the spring, College Union becomes involved in elections in which a group of qualified and enthusiastic students are chosen to head College Union in the coming year. Each year it sponsors informal lawn concerts, dances, lectures, parties, and numerous other recreational activities. College Union brings rock and roll, jazz, and folk groups to the campus. Among some of the notables of the past are the Four Tops, the Four Seasons, the Association, and Ferrante and Teicher. The movie program sponsored by the College Union is an especially noteworthy one, providing American classic films on Monday nights, foreign films on Wednesday nights and recent films on Friday and Saturday evenings. This year students saw such great oldies as "My Little Chickadee" with Mae West and W. C. Fields; and such newer films as "Zorba the Greek," "Breakfast at Tiffany's" and "Butterfield 8."

JEFF KINCHELOE
CU President

Another College Union project is the monthly art exhibits in the gallery of Tribble Hall.

The coming year will be no exception to the College Union rule of quality. Some of next year's highlights include the following:

Orientation — Lawn Concert with the Bozoseco Singers

Homecoming — Simon and Garfunkel and Smokey Robinson and the Miracles and his Motown Show

Concerts — Glenn Yarbrough

The Lettermen

Carlos Montoya

Dionne Warwick

Ski Trip to Blowing Rock

All students are welcome to participate in the various College Union committees. Freshmen are especially welcome to join. Fees for College Union membership are included in the Student Activities fees.

Jeff Kincheloe will direct and coordinate the activities of College Union this year.

A student enjoys one of the monthly art exhibits sponsored by the College Union.

The University Theatre

The University Theatre offers numerous opportunities to the students of all classes. They may participate as actors, directors, costumers, choreographers, make-up artists, carpenters, electricians, and spectators.

In the Library, the seventh level provides the space for theatre facilities: a proscenium stage, an arena stage, a box office, dressing rooms, and sound and light booths. During the year, the dramatic program comprises four major plays, Reader's Theatre, and Laboratory Theatre. Upon completion, the theatre's activities culminate with the Annual Theatre Awards Banquet, at which outstanding performers are inducted into the National Collegiate Players.

Dr. Harold C. Tedford and Mr. Martin Bennison will direct the activities.

Wake Forest's presentation of Bertolt Brecht's "The Caucasian Chalk Circle" received such acclaim and popularity with the audiences that it was held over for additional performances.

WFDD - FM

WFDD, "The Voice of Wake Forest," broadcasts throughout Piedmont North Carolina by means of FM (88.5MC) and can also be heard in the dormitory at 650 KC on AM receivers. WFOO has a power of 36,000 watts.

WFDD-FM broadcasts Monday through Saturday from 2 p.m. until midnight and on Sunday from 11 a.m. until midnight.

Musical Activities

Those students who express a desire to participate in musical activities at Wake Forest find that the variety of musical organizations provide an outlet for ability in individual, group, professional, amateur, vocal, and instrumental fields.

In the instrumental class, the Marching Deacons and the lively majorettes add to the spirit and atmosphere of autumn football games. Concerts are presented by the Concert Band in Chapel and outdoors in the spring. The Department of Music has a stage band with 15 to 20 members that are known for their "big band sound." Also, the Little Symphony, composed of Wake Forest students and musicians from the Winston-Salem area, presents concerts on campus and in joint programs with the Winston-Salem Symphony. The director of instrumental music is Calvin Huber.

Throughout the year, students are greeted by the strains of sacred anthems performed by the Chapel Choir during Chapel services. The Choir also presents an annual Christmas Vesper Service with the Little Symphony. The Touring Choir performs throughout North Carolina and other states and joins with the Chapel Choir for a concert of special music at the Magnolia Festival under choir director Dr. Thane McDonald.

At the end of the year, individual music students receive an opportunity to exhibit their talent at the Senior Recital.

Chamber Music Society

In addition to the Artists Series, the University is the home of the Wake Forest Chamber Music Society, composed of students, faculty, and townspeople. Each year the Society presents four outstanding recitalists or chamber music groups in the intimate atmosphere of DeTamble Auditorium. This year the Society will present their traditional list of distinguished performers in their respective fields. All interested persons may obtain season memberships, or, if preferred, tickets for each concert are available at the door. For any other information about the individual performances write Box 6011, Reynolda Station.

The Artists Series

World-renowned performers will visit Wake Forest University this year as the Artists Series, headed by Dr. Charles Allen of the biology department, continues to bring a wide variety of the finest instrumentalists and vocalists. Masters in their respective fields will thrill audiences with their music, ranging from classical to light jazz. Students will be admitted on their ID cards, but money allotments for the program come from general fees and endowment funds. This year's series will include:

October 12 — Amin Feres, Basso

October 30 — Atlanta Symphony—Robert Shaw, conductor
Grant Johannesen, pianist

November 28 — Mario Maya Company,
Flamenco dance and Flamenco guitar

February 12 — Marcel Marceau, mime

April 2 — Branko Krsmanovich Chorus

Debating

Dr. Merwin Hayes, the director of the Wake Forest debate team, stresses that debating is open to any student who is interested in attending the meetings and becoming a contributing member of the debate squad. There are no tryouts or eliminations.

In the coming academic year, the debate team will participate in twenty-five tournaments and will compete with some of the leading universities and outstanding debate schools of the nation. Wake Forest is the sponsor of two intercollegiate debate tournaments, the novice tournament in October and the Dixie Classic Varsity tournament in December. This year promises to provide Wake Forest debaters with both an active and challenging schedule.

Social Fraternities

As a freshman, one is confronted with many decisions but perhaps the most important will be which one of the 10 social fraternities on campus he may wish to affiliate with. Through the newly installed deferred rush rules, the new student can observe the fraternities from afar for a period of one semester then choose the one which suits him best.

The social fraternities serve a number of functions. Not only do they provide entertainment and parties for the student but also they encourage academic excellence and participate in a well-rounded intramural program.

The Interfraternity Council is the central governing body for all social fraternities on campus. Composed of representatives from each brotherhood, it formulates the rules for rushing, pledging and initiation. During the year the IFC sponsors 2 main social events, Mid-Winters in December and Greek Week in the spring.

Freshmen may pledge a fraternity second semester only after they have attained the required minimum grade average and have received a bid from the particular fraternity they are interested in. Transfer students may participate in rush first semester. Pledging is an important step in one's college career and should be done only after serious and careful consideration.

Sometime during Orientation, a one week period of Open House will begin in which new students may visit all the fraternity houses.

Deferred Pledging

I. Purposes of deferred pledging:

- A. To insure freshmen the opportunity to make an acceptable academic average during their initial semester at Wake Forest University.
- B. To protect the fraternities and the fraternity system from the harmful effects of pledging academically unproven men.
- C. To provide the freshmen with an introduction to the fraternity system and the men comprising it with a minimum requirement of time and monetary expenditure for both parties involved.

II. Rules for deferred pledging:

- A. Pledging shall be deferred until the spring semester.
- B. During the fall semester, fraternity rush shall be limited as follows:
 1. During orientation of the fall semester, the IFC will present a program in chapel to inform all freshmen of the new system of rush and the stipulations applied to that system.
 2. During registration of the fall semester, any freshman who wishes to be included in the fall rush plans will pay a five dollar rush fee to the treasurer of the IFC.
 3. During the entire fall semester, no fraternity man (or any associate of a fraternity) may solicit for any fraternity in the freshman dormitories. Also, regulations between freshmen and fraternity men (in non-dormitory areas) shall be reduced to casual greetings and other minimal relations made necessary by the normal functions of the academic life of the University.
 4. During the entire fall semester, no freshman may enter a fraternity section unless attending a function approved by the IFC. At no time during the weekdays, Monday through Thursday, may the freshmen be allowed in the fraternity sections.
 5. Only those freshmen that carry IFC rush identification cards will be considered eligible for the IFC-sponsored functions of the fall semester.
 6. Any freshman who is approached by a representative of a fraternity must report such to the Dean of Men or a member of the IFC.
 7. Any fraternity man who sees a rush violation must report such to the Dean of Men or a member of the IFC.
 8. Effective September 10, 1967, through January 30, 1968, no brother or affiliate or pledge of a social fraternity shall be permitted to grant special privileges to a freshman on this campus.

The following shall be termed special privileges:

- a. dining with a freshman on or off the campus.
- b. giving out-of-class scholastic aid without the consent of the IFC Executive Committee.
- c. participating at any time in lengthy discussions or conversation that might lead to prosecution for violation of rule B-3 of the IFC deferred pledging rules.
- d. providing transportation for or being with any freshman at any intercollegiate competition (athletic or otherwise) recognized by the University.
- e. providing transportation for any freshman for any reason not sponsored by the IFC.
- f. allowing a freshman to accompany or be present with any brother or affiliate or pledge at any college, community, or gathering place (public or private).

C. In case of a violation of any of the above rush limitations (B-1 through B-8), the following penalties may be applied:

1. Any freshman involved in the violation of deferred rush rules will not be allowed to pledge a fraternity during the semester in which the violation occurred.
2. For the first offense, the fraternity in error will be fined $50 by the IFC.
3. For the second offense, the fraternity in error will be fined $75 by the IFC.
4. For the third offense, the fraternity in error will be suspended by the IFC from all IFC functions in that semester.

D. Any penalty imposed upon a fraternity for violation of any section of II-B may be appealed before the IFC if written notice of that appeal is registered with the IFC secretary no later than one week after the imposition of the penalty.

E. Only those freshmen who compile a 2.0 academic average (or better) during the fall semester shall be eligible to pledge a fraternity. These names shall be officially listed by the Registrar and will be made available to all chapters prior to the beginning of rush. Any freshman with a 1.75 academic average who has paid his rush fee may be rushed spring semester.

III. Formal Rush:

- A. Formal fraternity rush shall begin at seven o'clock a.m. on January 31, 1968 (the first day for classes). At this time the rules in force throughout the fall semester shall be raised and the following rules shall go into effect:
1. Formal fraternity rush shall last from January 31, 1968, to February 15, 1968.
 2. No freshman may be in the fraternity section after 7:00 p.m. Monday through Thursday nights. Authorized evening smokers shall be an exception to this rule.
 3. No fraternity may be in the freshman dormitories between the hours of 9:00 p.m. and 7:00 a.m., Monday through Thursday. No rushing between these hours will be permitted, and freshmen seen outside the dormitories during these hours will be extended a casual greeting only.
 4. During the formal rush period, the ten fraternities will be divided into two groups (A and B). Each fraternity in these two groups will be allowed two parties, one of which must be on campus. A fraternity may not spend more than $500 for the two parties combined and the smoker, and an itemized account of all expenses must be presented to the Interfraternity Council. For the two weekends of the formal rush period, the Interfraternity Council will designate which group (A or B) will have their parties (on or off the campus will be stipulated) on each night of the weekends. During the designated parties, a fraternity outside the group may not sponsor a party.

Fraternity competition is keen in Greek Week events.

5. Silence period will begin at 12:00 midnight on February 15, 1968, and will extend until the freshman reaches the section of his choice on February 16, 1968, at 7:00 p.m. or until midnight on that date. During this period, no rushees are to visit any fraternity section or converse with any fraternity man.
 6. At 7:00 p.m., February 16, 1968, each freshman rushee shall indicate his choice of a fraternity to the Dean of Students and then shall go to the fraternity that he intends to pledge. One IFC representative from each fraternity section shall be stationed outside the Dean's office to enforce the silence period.
 7. Upper classmen and transfers with at least a sophomore standing (24 hours and a C average) may be pledged at any time. Summer School freshmen may not be pledged until February 16, 1968.
 8. No man may be pledged to a social fraternity and, after relinquishing or being deprived of his pledgeship to the aforesaid fraternity, repledge the original fraternity or any other social fraternity during the same semester.
 9. Pledging shall be free and open after February 16, 1968.
- B. If any violation of the above rushing rules (section III, A-1 through A-5) occurs during the formal rush period, the same penalties as listed in II-C shall be in effect. Appeals may be made according to II-D.
- C. These rush rules, after approval of the faculty, went into effect in September of 1966 and will last no longer than September of 1970, at which time they will be considered by the IFC and changes made if necessary. However, at any time the IFC reserves the right to recommend changes to the Student Affairs Committee and, upon that group's consent, effect said changes.

Societies

Upon entering this new phase of her life, a co-ed at Wake Forest often feels the need for the closer friendship and fellowship which the six girls' societies on campus offer. The clubs, known as Cameos, Fideles, Laurels, Les Soeurs, S.O.P.H., and Strings, offer membership to any girl with an overall C average who declares her desire to join by participating in Society rush, which takes place at the first of the second semester. During pledge period, she is indoctrinated in the rules, history, and heritage of her club, as well as gaining closer relationships with the girls who are sisters already.

The Inter-Society Council co-ordinates the activities of all the societies and acts as a spokesman and a sounding board for the groups to come together. It is composed of the presidents of each society and one representative of each class in the society.

Men's Residence Council

The Men's Residence Council has made tremendous strides in improving the social life of non-fraternity students. It operates under the belief that the dormitory should be made more than just a sleeping area and that the student should have some identification with its residents.

The activities of the Men's Residence Council are becoming almost as varied as those of the IFC. Lounges were opened this fall in all dormitory houses except Taylor, in which a lounge is still in planning. The MRC will sponsor another Red Garter Party after its tremendous success last year, as well as a spring dance later in the year. Also planned is a vigorous intramural schedule. In order to encourage academics, the council will present a "Sage Award" to some non-fraternity student for scholastic achievement. Another award, the coveted "All-House," will be given to the dormitory house with the best all-around performance for its activities during the year.

Organizations

A large number of societies, groups and clubs cover the range of student interests and activities at Wake Forest. Membership in these organizations is through scholarship or a desire to intensify a particular scope of interest that the student may have.

Honorary societies are Phi Beta Kappa, national scholarship society; Omicron Delta Kappa, national men's leadership society; Tassels, women's leadership society; and honoraries in the following fields: pre-med, biology, chemistry, mathematics, German, Romance languages, history, Latin, speech, religious activities, physical education, military, theater, and debate.

Other organizations which a student may choose to be affiliated with are Circle K and Alpha Phi Omega service fraternities, Young Democrats and Republicans Clubs, business and teachers organizations, the English Club, the International Relations Club, the Orchesis Dance Club, the Monogram Club, Maritimers swimming club, and women's physical education and recreation clubs.

PEACE CORPS

Mark Reece, Dean of Men, is the Peace Corps' liaison representative on the campus. Any student who is interested in this organization can secure descriptive literature and information from Dean Reece in 203 Reynolda Hall.

THE ROTC PROGRAM

A senior unit of the United States Army Reserve Officers Training Corps was established at Wake Forest University in 1951. The general objective of the program is to produce officers who possess the leadership and scholastic attributes to progressive and continual development as Reserve Officers in the Army of the United States.

The ROTC program is divided into a Basic Course (freshmen and sophomores) and an Advanced Course (juniors and seniors). Several scholarships are available to Advanced students and tuition, books, laboratory fees as well as fifty dollars per month subsistence allotment are included.

A student enrolled in ROTC who meets prescribed requirements may receive deferment from selective service. Uniforms, military textbooks and equipment are provided students by the United States Government. Students selected for the Advanced Course receive fifty dollars per month and for the entire course receive a total of about twelve hundred dollars.

After successful completion of the ROTC program, and the receipt of a baccalaureate degree, students are commissioned second lieutenants in the U. S. Army Reserve. If selected as a Distinguished Military Graduate, a student may be appointed a second lieutenant in the Regular Army.

NAVY ROTC PROGRAM

The United States Navy offers a Reserve Officer Candidate (ROTC) program whereby a Wake Forest student may complete his military requirements for commission as Ensign in the United States Navy Reserve by attending weekly drills at the Winston-Salem Naval Reserve Training Center, 930 Brookstown Avenue, and by attending the ROTC schools during the summer following his sophomore and junior years. A commission is granted on graduation from Wake Forest University. Further information is available through the Commanding Officer of the Training Center or Dr. Carlton Mitchell of the Wake Forest faculty.

SPORTS

The University provides extensive athletic and recreational facilities and a faculty of trained supervisors to direct activities in these fields.

In order to provide for a recreational program for all students, the University maintains athletic fields, tennis courts, and a combination athletic, physical education and recreation building which includes a swimming pool, handball and squash courts, rhythm studio, arts and crafts room, recreational area, corrective rooms, a gymnastic and wrestling room, and a women's gym, a varsity basketball gym and two men's intramural gyms.

Intramural Sports

The department of physical education provides a varied intramural sports program that appeals to the interest of several hundred Wake Forest students every year.

Intramural sports include touch football, basketball, wrestling, golf and tennis (both fall and spring), volleyball, handball, table tennis, badminton, horseshoes and softball.

Competition in team sports is on the basis of fraternity and non-fraternity, or independent teams. Any individual or group of individuals may organize teams and enter competition in any sport. Individual sports are run on a single-elimination basis, and anyone is eligible to enter. Trophies are awarded to individual and team winners in every sport.

The intramural program is under the direction of Dr. Taylor Dodson of the department of physical education. An intramural student manager assists in the program. He and assistant managers are appointed by the physical education staff and handle the details necessary for operation of the program.

Women's Athletics

The women's division of the department of physical education offers each woman an opportunity, through participation in team and individual sports, rhythm, aquatics and tumbling, to acquire skill and knowledge in all phases of physical activities.

Two semesters of physical education are required of all freshman women. Grades are based primarily on achievement in the activity.

The Woman's Recreation Association sponsors extracurricular athletics and recreation for women. Individual awards and trophies are based on points which coeds may accumulate by participating in various activities and tournaments.

The Physical Education Majors' Club is composed of all women who are majoring in physical education and those who are interested in it as a profession.

Intercollegiate Sports

In intercollegiate sports the University is a member of the Atlantic Coast Conference, one of the finest athletic circuits in the nation. Wake Forest teams are better known to the spectators as the Demon Deacons.

The year-round varsity sports schedule includes football, basketball, baseball, track, swimming, cross country, tennis, and golf. Freshman teams have a full schedule in all the intercollegiate sports.

Other schools that are members of the ACC are Duke, the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, N. C. State, Clemson, and the Universities of South Carolina, Virginia and Maryland.

Deacon teams have brought considerable recognition to the University. Sports contests with Duke, N. C. State, and Carolina always prove to be especially thrilling.

Deacon footballers are playing home games at the Bowman Gray Stadium in Winston-Salem, but plans call for a new stadium to be constructed near the campus, hopefully in time to open the 1968 football season. The campaign for funds was launched early in 1966 and a ground-breaking ceremony was held in the spring. Home baseball games are played at the Ernie Shore field and the basketball games are played in the Winston-Salem Coliseum near the campus.

The Bulletin

Information pertaining to charges, estimated expenses, financial arrangements, requirements for degrees, courses in liberal arts, the summer term and listing of all professors and administrative staffs may be found in the Bulletin of Wake Forest University. The Bulletin also contains more detailed coverage of much of the material in this handbook.

Absence Regulations

A student is responsible for all the work of all class and laboratory meetings of any course in which he is enrolled. Work missed because of absence may be made up only at the discretion of the instructor.

Absences are reported at the end of the semester by the instructor to the Office of the Dean of the College. The instructor also reports during the semester to the Office of the Dean of the College students who have already missed three consecutive class meetings, 25 per cent of the class meetings, or more classes than the instructor deems advisable. Absences are reported from the first meeting of the class, those who register late to be reported as absent from any previous class meetings which they have missed.

When any student has been absent regardless of reason in any course as many as 25 per cent of the total class periods in that course, he shall lose all credit for the course and shall be assigned a grade of F, except that if all his absences are considered by the Dean to be excused or otherwise permissible, he may be assigned a grade of WP or WF as appropriate.

Any student who demonstrates irresponsibility with regard to class attendance is subject to such disciplinary action as the Executive Committee may prescribe, including immediate suspension from college.

A student who is on academic or conduct probation is not allowed any absences from class until notified otherwise by the Office of the Dean of Students.

For students not on probation, absence from any class at the last meeting before or the first meeting after any holiday recess shall count for freshmen two absences and for upperclassmen three absences in a class which meets twice a week and four absences in all other courses. If such absence is excused, it shall count as one absence.

Any student who has been absent from an announced quiz may, if he follows proper procedure, secure from the Office of the Dean of the College by the next meeting of the class a statement showing the reason for the absence and a statement of whether the Office considers it an excusable reason for missing the quiz. This is for information only and does not give the student any right to make up the quiz.

Freshmen who are not on probation are allowed in each course no greater number of absences than the number of meetings in a normal week.

These absences include those for participation in extracurricular activities; for such emergencies as illness in the immediate family, automobile accidents, or appearance in court; and for personal convenience. Absences in excess of this number will result in the student's being subject to probation or to suspension from the University, except that (1) additional absences because of personal illness may be allowed if the absence is excused by the Student Health Service at the time of the illness or, if the illness occurs off campus, within 24 hours after the student returns to campus, and (2) additional absences may be allowed as an official representative of the college if approved in advance by the office of the Dean of the College.

General Social Regulations

Definition

A party is defined as any event wholly or partially social which is sponsored by a Wake Forest student organization or a group of students and at which both men and women will be present.

Registration and Approval

All parties must be registered and approved in the Office of the Dean of Women on forms supplied by that office. Parties to be held on Friday, Saturday, or Sunday must be approved by 12:00 noon on Thursday. Formal or semi-formal dances for which late permission is requested must be approved a week before the event. Other parties must be approved at least three days prior to the party.

Parties at such a distance from the campus as to necessitate overnight absence from the campus will not be approved, but must nevertheless be registered in the Office of the Dean of Women two weeks before the event. Wake Forest women attending such parties must have parental consent on forms mailed from the Dean of Women directly to the parent.

Chaperons

All parties shall require chaperons, who must be members of the faculty or the administrative staff of Wake Forest University. For any on-campus party, one chaperon is required. For any off-campus party, a married couple is required.

Place of Party

All parties must be held at places approved by the Student Affairs Committee and must be confined within whatever further limitations may be designated by the Dean of Women, in whose office a list of approved places is available.

Time of Party

Informal parties on Friday or Saturday night must end no later than 11:30 P.M. Formal and semi-formal dances may, with the permission of the Dean of Women, continue until 12:30 A.M. on Friday night and 12:30 A.M. on Saturday night. All parties must end at the specified hours whether or not coeds are present.

Conduct

All persons attending a party are expected to abide by all college rules and regulations and to conduct themselves in such a way as not to bring unfavorable attention to themselves or to the University. In addition, there shall be no consumption of any intoxicating beverages at any party, nor shall anyone under the influence of alcohol be present.

Responsibility

Both the organization and its officers or the group and its members sponsoring the party shall be responsible for the conduct of all persons at the party. Any violation of the rules or other misconduct, whether by students or others, subjects the individuals committing the offense, the group organization sponsoring the party, and the officers or other hosts individually to possible penalty.

Student Marriages

Except as herein provided, any student, man or woman, including day students, under twenty-one years of age, planning to continue his enrollment in the University after marriage must, prior to the marriage, have his parents or guardian notify the Dean of Women, in the case of women students, or the Dean of Men, in the case of men students. Notification shall be in writing and shall set forth the date and place of the marriage and the name of the person whom the student is marrying.

A student twenty-one years of age or older who plans to continue his enrollment in the University after marriage must, prior to the marriage, notify the Dean of Women, in the case of women students, or the Dean of Men, in the case of men students. Notification shall be in writing and shall set forth the date and place of the marriage and the name of the person whom the student is marrying.

A student who is married in the summer when he is not enrolled in the University for either the first or second summer session is not required to notify the Dean of Women or the Dean of Men prior to the marriage. However, immediately upon the return of the student to the University, he must notify the Dean of Men or the Dean of Women.

No woman student may continue living in the dormitory after marriage.

Any student who is married without proper notice will be given the opportunity to withdraw from the University immediately. Failure to withdraw will subject him to such disciplinary action as the Executive Committee of the faculty may prescribe, including immediate suspension from the university. Subsequent readmission after withdrawal or suspension will be at the discretion of the Executive Committee.

For the purposes of this requirement, a student is considered to be enrolled in the University continuously from the beginning until the end of the school year. By way of illustration and not by way of limitation, a student is considered to be enrolled in the University during holidays and during those periods between the fall and spring semesters and between the first and second sessions of summer school.

Automobile Regulations

During his first two semesters in the University a freshman male student living in a dormitory is not allowed to have an automobile. After the freshman year, a male student may have the use of an automobile during any semester at the beginning of which he has an over-all "C" average.

Any woman student of a junior or senior standing and with a cumulative C average, as determined on a semester basis, and otherwise in good standing is allowed to have an automobile.

During the Summer session any student enrolled, regardless of classification, may have an automobile so long as he complies with registration, traffic, and parking regulations.

A student automatically loses the privilege of having an automobile at any time that he is placed on social or conduct probation.

A student prevented by University regulations from having an automobile is not allowed to maintain or operate a motor vehicle in Forsyth County or vicinity. Storing or otherwise keeping a motor vehicle in other places in this area for occasional use is also in violation of this regulation. Otherwise aiding or abetting in the violation of this regulation is a violation of the regulation.

In the fall a first semester freshman or an ineligible upperclassman who arrives on the campus with an automobile must have it returned to his home before 6:00 a.m. on the day preceding the first day of classes for that semester. Any student who loses his eligibility to have an automobile because of his fall semester grades is required to report to the Traffic office and turn in his sticker during the spring semester registration period. At that time he will be informed of the procedure for disposition of his vehicle.

Students who violate any of these regulations will be placed on conduct probation by the Office of the Dean of Students and will be subject to suspension from the University or such other penalty as the Executive Committee may prescribe. Exceptions to these regulations may be made only by written permission from the Office of the Dean of Students.

Anyone with unexcused parking violations exceeding the number of five (5) per semester shall be prohibited from having a car on campus. If the violations exceed the number five, the student is required to remove his car from campus at that time for the remainder of the semester. Thereafter, if he be found possessing or operating a car on campus, the student shall be referred to the Dean of Men or the Dean of Women for possible action by the Men's Judicial Board or the Woman's Government.

A $10.00 fee will be charged for the sticker at the time of registration.

Stickers are effective for the school year — September through Summer School sessions.

Students will be required to show the state vehicle registration and their State operator's license at the time of registration.

Section 1—Publications of Candidacy. The names of all nominees shall be published by the Committee on Elections at least one week prior to election.

Section 2—Supervision. The elections shall be publicly held at a place designated by the Committee on Elections as "the premises of the polls." The election will be in charge of two or more poll-holders duly appointed by the Committee on Elections. The pollholders shall file a written report of the results of the election with the Secretary of the Student Body not later than three days after the election.

Section 3—Ballots. The Committee on Elections shall furnish ballots on which shall be printed the names of the candidates alphabetically by office. The ballots shall be deposited in a ballot box provided for the purpose. There shall be no voting by proxy. The poll-holders shall take such other measures as are necessary to assure fair and just balloting.

Section 4—Secret Ballot. All voting shall be by secret ballot. The Committee on Elections shall use all possible precautions to prevent fraud and shall report any offenders to the Student Honor Council.

Section 5—Write-in Ballots. Write-in ballots are acceptable as long as the person whose name is written in is eligible for election according to the Statutes.

Section 6—Date of Elections. Student Body elections shall be held after April 1st and before April 30th and shall take place independently of any other student elections.

Section 7—Hours of Elections. The polls shall be kept open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., after which the votes shall be canvassed by the Committee on Elections and the results of the elections declared.

Section 8—Additional Regulations. The Committee on Elections shall have the power to make such additional regulations of the holding of elections as it may deem necessary and proper.

Section 9—Holding two offices. No student shall hold two offices concurrently.

*Section 10—*In elections for student body and class officers, if a candidate receives a majority of the votes cast for an office on the first vote, he shall be declared the

The third ranking candidate shall also enter provided the combined votes of the first two do not constitute a majority of the votes cast. Section 11—In elections for the Honor Council and the Student Legislature, where there are two or more offices to be filled, they shall be filled with the candidates polling the highest number of votes. A runoff will be held only where there is a tie.

Section 12. Recall vote. If any officer of the Student Body, Class Officer, or Legislator shall be believed by his constituency to be guilty of inexcusable neglect of duty, the said officer shall be subject to a recall vote on the following conditions:

Subsection a. Petition. If the constituency is campus wide, the petition to recall shall be presented to the Legislature and shall not be valid unless it contains the signatures of at least fifteen (15%) percent of the qualified voters. If the constituency is less than campus wide, the petition to recall shall not be valid unless it contains the signatures of at least twenty-five (25%) percent of the qualified voters in the constituency concerned.

Subsection b. Re-Election. The Legislature shall, if it determines by a majority vote the petition to be in good order within the limitations of this Constitution, direct the Elections Committee to conduct an election for the office in question. Candidates for the office would include the incumbent, if he so desired, and any other student deemed qualified under election rules. The incumbent shall continue in office until the election returns shall be officially announced.

Dear Fellow Student:

May I take this opportunity to welcome you, on behalf of the student body, to Wake Forest University. And at the same time may I express my belief that next year will be a very good one for Wake Forest: our athletic teams hold much promise, the Men's Residence Council will be operating on a larger scale than ever before, and the College Union will again offer an outstanding schedule of social activities. These and many other things will give us a stronger foundation upon which to work.

But the one thing that stands out in the thinking concerning this the transition year is the role of Student Government in the life of the student. Under the leadership of Student Body President Chip Cooper, the future of the student organization looks brighter than ever before. Student Government is becoming one of the well-established traditions of Wake Forest, and is increasing in its functions whereby the student can shape his present as well as his future. It gives each student a voice not only in student activities, but also in the policies and goals of the University. The student legislature considers itself one of action: It intends to function as a body to voice your protests and complaints, stimulate your interest, and provide, insofar as possible, for your welfare. It will work for you and with renewed energy and enthusiasm, tempered with maturity and a sense of responsibility.

However, the ultimate success or failure of any student government depends on the individual effort and support of each student. Your Student Body Officers are asking for this support. We must work together, in all endeavors in order to make them successful.

Wake Forest is undergoing a period of transition. We, as the students, will greatly influence the course of this transition. In short, we will "make or break" Wake Forest University. I urge you to help "make" Wake Forest University by becoming an active member of Student Government. I trust that you will.

Sincerely,

Jerry H. Baker

Vice President of the Student Body

President of the Student Legislature
